Words have the ability to uplift, cause pain, excite, annoy, persuade, spark thought, placate and even inspire. Additionally, research shows that each individual on average speaks approx 16,000 words a day. Words are extremely powerful and before each one is spoken, thought should be given. Words have power, and the words we say to ourselves on a day to day basis can affect our moods, thoughts, attitude and actions. This session will deal with how words literally affect people on a molecular level as well as psychological level. Utilizing Self Awareness, through the power of examining affirmations & patterns, participants will walk away with an understanding of how what they say on a daily basis to themselves can change the course of their lives and the lives of those around us.
